Gong Engage + Dynamics tracked email

REP	GONG CALLS	GONG MEETINGS	GONG OUTBOUND EMAIL	DYNAMICS SENT	DYNAMICS RECEIVED	INTERPRETATION
Brandon Evans 110 territory accounts	8	9	66	No tracked records	—	Bespoke motion; low volume needs account-level context
Kiffin Wigert 148 territory accounts	5	6	195	206	690	Mid-level distributor motion; relationship depth matters
Jed Cowan 395 territory accounts	14	19	515	509	738	Broad manufacturer list; segmentation underway
Donald Timmerman 1,644 territory accounts	179	4	375	2	1	High-volume territory; breadth expected
Brett Ingram 108 territory accounts	8	10	81	10	17	Expansion-led; meeting depth matters

Tracking note: Gong and Dynamics do not capture identical email populations. Jed and Kiffin are directionally close on outbound volume; Brandon, Donald and Brett show large Dynamics tracking gaps. Treat this as a data-capture issue, not seller inactivity. Recorded Gong calls are also not a complete proxy for calendar meetings.

Territory strategy

Territory strategy

Coverage expectations differ by territory shape and sales motion

Brandon Evans

110 accounts • bespoke / high research

Methodical account-by-account work. He has described a cadence of roughly five companies per week with a full work-up before outreach.

OPERATING FOCUS

- Use prospecting pools to rank a finite working set
- Weight strategic fit, potential and buying signal
- Protect research time; measure account progression, not raw volume

Kiffin Wigert

148 accounts • mid-level distributors

Focused on mid-level distributor accounts. CNI is a representative larger target in the book; the territory strategy still needs further development.

OPERATING FOCUS

- Prioritize distributor fit and relationship access
- Use account priority to identify the next working set
- Measure progression across named distributor accounts

Jed Cowan

~400 accounts • manufacturer list

Actively reaching out across a roughly 400-account list. Market reactions point to pricing sensitivity among smaller manufacturers.

OPERATING FOCUS

- Segment the list by manufacturer profile and price fit
- Apply Growth Accelerator pricing where appropriate
- Use prospecting pools to develop a ranked priority list

Donald Timmerman

1,644 accounts • scale / high volume

Large territory, smaller transaction sizes and a high-volume reach-out requirement. Breadth matters more than deep research on every account.

OPERATING FOCUS

- Prioritize intent, readiness and recency signals
- Use scalable sequences and rapid triage
- Track breadth, response and conversion by account tier

Brett Ingram

108 accounts • expansion-led + selective net new

Early tenure emphasized customer immersion and expansion opportunities, while running selected net-new pursuits in parallel.

OPERATING FOCUS

- Move expansion opportunities to forecastable stages
- Continue selective net-new pursuit: Nutrien, SiteOne, Wilbur-Ellis
- Use warm introductions and customer context to accelerate access

Account prioritization

Prospecting pools project • territory-aware prioritization

Priority score inputs

- 1 Strategic fit
Tier, segment, account profile and territory fit
- 2 Economic potential
Peak potential, open revenue, expansion potential and active opportunities
- 3 Intent & engagement
Predict/qualification scores, engagement minutes and recent sales touches
- 4 Outreach readiness
Current target, Outreach Ready status and GTM market step
- 5 Timing / access
Warm intro, active conversation, upcoming trigger or close window

Apply by territory

- D Donald — scale
Heavier weight on readiness, intent and recency so 1,600+ accounts can be triaged quickly.
- B Brandon — bespoke
Heavier weight on strategic fit and economic potential; prospecting pool should stay finite and researchable.
- J Jed — segmented manufacturers
Segment by company type and pricing fit; concentrate on accounts that fit the Growth Accelerator motion.
- K Kiffin — distributors
Prioritize distributor fit, account size, relationship path and active buying signal.
- BI Brett — expansion + selective net new Expansion readiness first, then strategic net-new accounts with a warm path or credible timing.

Prospecting pool objective: turn the full territory into a ranked, manageable working set. The scoring can be refined as the prospecting-pool project is finalized without redesigning the dashboard.
